I'm so sorry for your loss. Diane was one of my Y friends and I always looked forward to a cheery word and smile from her at Body Recall class. And she always inspired me to work just a little harder. I remember how excited she was when Ellie was born - such a huge smile! I'll miss her.

While our hearts are utterly broken by the loss of Diane, we will choose to remember many happy memories... How we first met Diane at a party at our place, how we danced at Tom and Diane's wedding to "We Are Family" along with her lively sisters. The many, many holidays we all shared with family. The parties, picnics, wedding showers, weddings, baby showers, christenings, First Communion, graduations, so many celebrations! Our shared extended family vacation at Boyne. Driving out to their place in Pt. Sanilac, and later, to St. Clair. The cute pictures Diane would draw on envelopes and greeting cards. The things she loved to surround herself with, items that spoke of home and family and children and nature and angels. Diane's lilting laugh, her intellect, the lively discussions, the singing around the piano at Christmas. How she and Tom loved their vacations in the Upper Peninsula, where he would fish, and she would read, and they would shop the little stores and she would pick up small treasures and Christmas gifts. And most of all, Diane's joy at becoming a mother. Like many of us, her happiest days were when she was caught up in the frenzy and frivolity of raising young children. Her utter pride in her sons, in their goodness, their educational achievements, their accomplishments, and then the bonus of a loving daughter in law and precious grand daughter were evident to us. We will deeply miss all of these things, and we will hold Diane's dear ones close to our hearts and presence in their grieving. We will try to be more patient, more kind and loving, more understanding, realizing with each loss we bear, that life is so very brief and fragile. We are confident that our sister in law, this "bonus" sister of ours, is embraced in the loving arms of the Lord as this is written. and is experiencing a grand Heavenly Family Reunion the likes of which we can scarcely begin to imagine. Hug your dear Mom, for us, Diane, we will greet you again someday with great joy. We have loved you, and always will.
