He loved the two of you very much. It meant so much to him to visit with you the last time we were there. He cherished the pictures we took. It was sad to take down the horse and buggy from the kitchen because he would just sit in his chair in the kitchen and just love looking at it. He would make me move it from the East to the West facing almost every time I was there. He admired both of you so much. Love! Barb Stier
